

BRAZILIAN UNIFIED EXAM OF PHYSICS GRADUATE COURSES

For admission to thirty of the best Brazilian Graduate Programs

SCHOLARSHIPS: the affiliated graduate programs may provide scholarships to students according to their availability and local rules. All citizenships are eligible. The programs are free of tuition fees.

The EUF is a unified physics exam, used by 30 affiliated graduate programs in Brazil as part of their election for Master and PhD students.

ATTENTION: The registration in the EUF does not imply in the application for any of the affiliated institutions: the candidate should look for further information regarding the selection process in the website of the corresponding institutions, including the specific ways in which the grade in the EUF is used by them. Some programs also consider the GRE Physics subject test.
